Atmospheric urban fantasy romance set against the picturesque backdrop of Ireland

CONTENT

Kailey is new at Trinity College, Dublin. What nobody knows is that she is actually an elf warrior sent by the queen of the Fae people to ensnare the dragon prince Aiden. The Fae hope this will give them an advantage in the impending war between the elves and the dragons. But Aiden has been given a very similar mission! They both play the game of deception with great skill – but as time goes on, they begin to have genuine feelings for each other.

THE AUTHOR

Sandra Grauer was born in 1983 in the Ruhrgebiet area of Germany. Reading, writing, and delving into different worlds through stories has always been her passion. In Heidelberg she studied languages and translation before completing a correspondence course in journalism and a training program at a public relations agency in Karlsruhe. Now she lives in the Ruhrgebiet with her husband and their son. She writes primarily novels for teens and women, but also murder mysteries.
