Age	10 years and older

A graphic novel told from two different points of view (brother and sister) with a huge amount of humour and slapstick from the everyday life of the siblings.

CONTENT

A school trip with Paul?! That means catastrophes are practically guaranteed. As if Karlina wasn't busy enough keeping self-appointed yoga king Noel out of her hair and secretly arranging a date with her crush Felix. The last thing she needs is her patchwork brother planning some wacky moves of his own to impress his adored Roberta!

THE AUTHOR

Anja Fröhlich has been writing children's books for twenty years and loves marvelling at things for professional reasons alone. Since her son is grown and her husband is a travel journalist, she gets the chance to do that in the remotest regions of the world – just like the donkey and the squirrel. But Anja enjoys being home in Cologne just as much, where she has lived since studying film studies, art history and psychology.
Author and journalist Patrick Krause was born in Frankfurt am Main in 1965 and lives in Cologne. After studying philosophy, English language and literature and education, he worked as a copywriter for advertising and media. He subsequently founded his own publishing company and worked as a freelance journalist for Süddeutsche Zeitung and others. These days, he works as a language adviser for businesses. Since 2015, he has also been the editor-in-chief of QVEST magazine – when he's not riding his racing bike or going crazy on the drums, that is. "The Most Un-Secret Diary" is his first – and very successful – excursion into the world of children's books.

THE ILLUSTRATOR

Kristina Nowothenig was born in Preetz, Schleswig-Holstein, in 1979. An illustrator's visit to her primary school fascinated her so much that she knew even then: that's what I want to do, too!

After graduating from high school, she studied communication design, making her dream come true. She has been working as a freelance illustrator and graphic designer ever since.

Kristina Nowothenig loves spending time with her family. Her hobbies include reading and watching movies, along with knitting, sewing and swing dancing. Her work aims to make books more accessible to children and inspire a love of books in them. Kristina Nowothenig particularly loves to get involved in creating new books, breathing life into fictional characters. She is married with two children.
