An innovative concept for a book with five realistic bandages to make everything better and heal quickly!

- International bestseller!

CONTENT

An innovative concept for a book with five realistic bandages to make everything better and heal quickly! Five animals have hurt themselves: the dog has injured its paw, the monkey has a bump on its head, the bear was poked in the bottom, the sheep scraped its belly and the elephant has a flat trunk. There's only one thing to do: give it a quick blow, put a bandage on it, and everything is all better. There is a matching bandage for each animal in the book. Large illustrations provide plenty of space for the bandages. The animating rhymes help the "patients" feel better. The bandages can be removed and cleaned with cold water over and over again, and stick to all smooth surfaces.

THE AUTHOR

Bernd Penners, born in 1958, is an elementary school teacher and is still engaged in this career with great enthusiasm. With his books he would like to make children smile and show that it's a good idea to not always take things super seriously.
