A touching, funny and light-hearted story about an imaginary friend and the courage to be different than the crowd.

CONTENT

When Emil's nursery school goes on a sledding trip, the other children boldly slide down from the highest hill. Only Emil would rather go on an expedition to find polar bears. Sure enough, he soon finds a gigantic white bear. They become friends and although the bear is anxious at first, they even sled down the hill together. That doesn't work out so well, but they do have fun. Everything is easier with a strong friend by your side.
