CONTENT

When Bloom is made Guardian of Winter, her entire life comes crashing down overnight. Although she belongs to one of the four families of magical rulers who kept the cycle of seasons alive for generations, Bloom intended to stay away from it all and go to university a long way away. But now she has to fly from Oslo to Amsterdam to pass the Amulet of the Seasons to the Guardian of Spring. She doesn't know that this one encounter and a single kiss will be enough to bring grave danger not just to her own heart but also her family and the whole world, as Bloom knows it.
